No. 08 - June 2017

Don't let your profits vanish into thin air!

Ever wonder how much gas you have lost throughout the years because of the emissions that happen every time you disconnect a hose from a valve? It adds up, believe us. The result is an annoying loss of product and therefore also profit.

Of course, we wouldn't be talking about this if we didn't have a solution. RegO has designed a line of low-emission products, which all help to keep unnecessary emissions to an absolute minimum. KC ProSupply is pleased to bring you this series of exquisite products.

Did you know?

KC ProSupply also sells ACME Wear Gauge kits. These include a handy briefcase filled with everything you need to check whether your ACME couplings are still in good condition. It even includes service report sheets.

Worn-out couplings are a safety risk, so don't get caught unaware!
